amendment. I'm just trying to think of things...

SENATOR BEUTLER: Right.

SENATOR BROMM: ...where we might be shooting ourselves in the foot, so to speak.

SENATOR BEUTLER: Well, this would be a matter, of course, of just Department of Motor Vehicles' handling of information and who they give the information out to.

SENATOR BROMM: That is correct.

SENATOR BEUTLER: If the city of Wahoo itself has that information...

SENATOR BROMM: That is correct.

SENATOR BEUTLER: ...from its own customers then I suppose...I don't know what rules pertain to that particular situation but I assume they can certainly make contact with their own customers for the purpose for which the customer gave them the name.

SENATOR CROSBY: Time. Further discussion, Senator Beutler.

SENATOR BEUTLER: Just continuing, Senator Bromm, I suppose you would agree that the utility in Wahoo ought not to be able to sell a list of those names.

SENATOR BROMM: Agree to that.

SENATOR BEUTLER: Okay.

SENATOR BROMM: And I...

SENATOR BEUTLER: And could they sell it...could they sell it to another public entity? Could they sell it to NPPD for marketing purposes? I'm not saying "could they", I'm asking the question hypothetically and I'm not sure I know all the answers to that either.

SENATOR BROMM: I...I honestly...
